THE CHINA MAIL.

HONGKONG, MONDAY, MARCH 4, 1878.

WHETHER the warlike preparations at Home, of which we were advised by telegraph on Saturday, are being made because the British Government seriously anticipates the outbreak of war or mainly to give Great Britain "suitable prestige" at the approaching Conference at Baden-Baden must be to some extent an open question. The £6,000,000 was avowedly asked for in Parliament for the latter purpose, but it would be hazardous to decide that the recent revelations in regard to the "conditions of peace" have not given an earnestness and activity to the preparations for war that was hardly contemplated when the grant was applied for in the House of Commons. We have had it telegraphed that Russia originally demanded from Turkey the cession of the whole of her ironclad fleet, but that this demand was subsequently withdrawn on an engagement being entered into by the Porte that the squadron should not be ceded to England. On the following day we were told that, to partly cover the heavy indemnity demanded from her, Turkey had agreed to cede six of her ironclads. If this condition be carried out the Turkish ironclad fleet will be reduced to fourteen ironclads, and the Russian Black Sea fleet will probably be speedily raised by the construction of several new vessels, in addition to the two or three ironclads at present afloat in that Sea, to a strength equal to that of the Turkish fleet; or it may be the six vessels will be despatched to reinforce the Baltic fleet, in which case the Russians will be in a position to try conclusions with the hostile squadron that any country, excepting perhaps England or France, would be able to despatch to the North. A few notes on the strength of the fleets of European countries may be interesting at the present moment.

The total number of the fighting vessels of the British Navy in 1876 was 111. Of these 58 were ironclads included, 47 vessels described as "efficient" and 3 built solely for the defence of the Colonies. Among the unarmoured ships of the British navy, the chief are three iron-built frigates, the Shah, the Imcon, and the Raleigh. France comes next with 52 ironclads, but the majority of her vessels are of rather antiquated construction, all but seven of them being wooden vessels cased with iron. The French fleet, however, of all classes, is even stronger than that of England in point of number. The Russian ironclad fleet in the Baltic numbered in 1876 about 26 vessels, including 14 turret monitors and 3 floating batteries. In addition to the ironclads the Baltic fleet comprises about fifty wooden men-of-war. The German navy in July 1877 consisted of 60 steam vessels, including 16 ironclads. Not the whole of these 60 are, however, fighting vessels. The Austrian navy consisted in the same year of 44 steamers, including 11 ironclads; and the Italian navy of 81 steamers, including 11 ironclads.

The Austrian Government is about to ask for exactly the same amount for military preparations as was demanded by the Government at Home, namely, £6,000,000. The Governor of Gibraltar who is to be appointed commander in Chief of the British Expeditionary force, in the event of war, is, as our readers need not probably be informed, General Lord Napier of Magdala. Lord Napier in addition to his experience in the Abyssinian campaign served during the Indian mutiny as Chief Engineer with the army of Sir Colin Campbell, and in China he was second in command under Sir Hope Grant. Sir Garnet Wolseley, who would be Chief of the Staff, has already had some dealings with the Russians, having achieved distinction in the Crimea, where he served with the 90th Light Infantry. At the siege of Sebastopol he was severely wounded. He was also at the siege and capture of Lucknow and the defence of Alumbagh during the Indian Mutiny, and in 1860 he served on the staff of the Quarter-master-General throughout the Chinese campaign. He also commanded the Red River expedition in Canada, and lastly the Ashantee expedition. He is the author of "The Soldier's Pocket-Book for Field Service."

It is almost impossible to conceive that the Russians imposed their "conditions of peace" with any prospect of their being fulfilled. Two hundred millions sterling was the indemnity demanded by Germany from prosperous France when the latter was far less able to resist the advance of her invader than was Turkey the advance of the Russians at the close of the present struggle, and if the Russians seriously intend to exact two hundred millions sterling from Turkey their object must be not the reform of the country, or satisfaction for real or fancied wrongs, but the utter downfall of the Turk and the triumph of Russian aggression. There is not the slightest doubt in our mind that the British Government will not permit any direct or indirect interference with the Suez Canal, and the Egyptian tribute question may mainly account for a great deal of the earnestness that appears to have been thrown into the military preparations at Home during the last few days. The Shanghai Courier states it has been informed on "the best possible authority" that the Russian army took Erzerum a fortnight ago, and that the fortresses of Rustchuk, Widin, Silistria and Turtakai are in their possession, but we can hardly attach credence to the report, despite the authority. Surely the Turks would not be foolish enough to surrender these fortresses, and surely Reuter would not be lax enough to allow such a step to pass unrecorded if it had taken place.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

THE cases at the Police Court to-day were of no public interest.

THE French mail steamer Ava, which arrived this morning from Shanghai, on trying to make fast to her buoy, ran foul of the N. G. schooner Louisa, and carried away her jib-boom, head gear, &c., but no damage occurred of very serious consequence.

We learn that the splendidly-embroidered official umbrellas and fans, a jade-stone phoenix, a silver inkstand, an address with two Chinese scrolls—presented to Mr F. Stewart, head master of the Government School—will be on view from to-morrow at the City Hall Museum.

THE following notice appears in the Government Gazette of Saturday last:—"The attention of Applicants for Licences to convey Emigrants from Hongkong is drawn to the inconvenience of the course frequently adopted by them in waiting until the very day on which the intending Emigrant Ship is to sail before furnishing the particulars required in order to obtain a Licence. They are requested to take

Merchant Vessels in Hongkong Harbour.

To facilitate finding the position of any vessel in the Harbour, the Anchorage is divided into eight Sections, commencing at Green Island. Vessels near the Hongkong shore are marked A., near the Kowloon shore, B., and those in the body of the Shipping or midway between each shore are marked C., in conjunction with the figures denoting the sections.

Section.
1. From Green Island to the Gas Works.
2. From Gas Works to the Novelty Iron Works.
3. From Novelty Iron Works to the Harbour Master's Office.
4. From Harbour Master's Office to the P. and O. Co.'s Office.

Section.
5. From P. and O. Co.'s Office to Peddar's Wharf.
6. From Peddar's Wharf to the Naval Yard.
7. From Naval Yard to the Pier.
8. From Pier to East Point.
